PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Andrew Spencer is an attorney and shareholder in Clark Partington's litigation department where he represents clients in state and federal courts from case initiation through trial.

Andrew focuses on business litigation, commercial disputes, breach of contract cases, and employment matters. He also has significant experience litigating a range of negligence actions as well as single-event and mass-casualty maritime cases.

In his business litigation practice, Andrew regularly handles high-exposure breach of contract matters and cases involving non-compete agreements, non-solicitation agreements, non-disclosure agreements, and other restrictive covenants across a range of sectors including healthcare, professional services, finance, and technology. He also regularly litigates cases involving tortious interference, partnership and shareholder disputes, trade secret protection, deceptive and unfair trade practices, and defamation.

In his employment law practice, Andrew represents clients through all phases of disputes, from the initial administrative proceedings through trial. He has secured numerous summary judgment victories in discrimination and retaliation cases and advises businesses and organizations on strategies to mitigate risk and avoid claims before they arise.

Andrew serves as Treasurer and incoming Secretary of the Escambia-Santa Rosa Bar Association and is a past president of the Association's Young Lawyers Division. He also serves on the Board of Directors of the Pensacola Museum of Art and as Vice President of Academics for the Northwest Florida Gator Club, where he has the privilege of managing the organization's provision of scholarships to incoming University of Florida students from the area.
